PARIS

A watercolor illustration of a Parisian street scene. A person in a red coat and hat walks away from the viewer down a narrow street. The street is flanked by tall buildings, and a large yellow awning is visible on the right. The scene is captured in a soft, painterly style.A watercolor illustration of a Parisian building facade. The building has multiple stories with numerous windows, some with flower boxes and small balconies. The colors are warm and vibrant, with shades of pink, orange, and green. The style is artistic and detailed.

PARIS!

In 2016, Jackie Marie Beyer's passport was due to expire in a few months after 10 years. The sole stamp was from Canada a mere 14 miles from her home. When gas hit a low of $1.79/gallon, she finally mustered up the courage to make her lifelong dream come true just months before her 50th birthday. Amazed she could get roundtrip airfare from Montana and a studio apartment she could cook in for $1300 for 9 days, she courageously pushed buy and headed out 2 weeks later. Here are her lessons.

Most of all she hopes you'll go too!

you'll probably arrive early in the morning...

and not be able to get in your hotel room,
although they'll probably hold your luggage.

*You'll
want to explore
your neighborhood*

There's lots
of churches and
gardens to explore
~ This pretty little
garden was a short cut to my apartment!

You will probably get lost once or twice.

The local Fran Prix will offer delicious food to cook.

You might want to get your
